What is Parsley

Parsley is a simple chrome extension. The main purpose of the tool is to help users quickly transfer data from publicly available websites they use, into their ATS or CRM platform of choice. Parsley does NOT collect or store any information collected from any website the user visits. It simply passes the data between the two systems.

What information do we collect?

When you visit our Site or use our Service you may provide us with two types of information: personal information you actively choose to disclose ("Active Information") and non-personally identifiable information collected, in a way not visible to you, on an aggregate basis as you and others use our Site ("Passive Information"). These two types of information are referred to collectively as "Subscriber Information".

Active Information You Provide

In order to use the Service, we require you to disclose the following information: full legal name, full company name and a valid e-mail address. Additionally, if you choose to post information through our Service or engage in email, regular mail, telephone or other contact with us, we may retain information disclosed thereby as well.

Passive Information Collected

Our Site and the Service utilize a standard technology called cookies to collect information about how our Site and Service is used. Passive Information gathered may include but is not limited to the date and time of visits, the Site pages viewed, time spent at our Site, a logging of activities, and the sites visited just before and just after our Site.

Cookies

Cookies are a feature of web browser software that allow web servers to recognize the computer used to access a Site. They are small pieces of data that we transfer to your computer's hard drive to enable our systems to recognize your browser, simplify subsequent interactions with our Site and streamline your use of the Site.

Use of Information Collected

Individuals we employ directly, or as contractors or agents at our direction, use Active Information for purposes of administering our business activities, providing Subscriber services such as support, and making available other products or services we think may be of interest to our users. We may use the Active Information or Passive Information you provide to us to contact you about changes to our Site and Service, new services, features or products we offer, or other information we think you might find valuable, as well as to provide or enhance features of our Site and Service. If at any time you do not wish to receive such information from us, please send us an email to that effect to support@Parsley.com.

We also use Passive Information to gather information about our users and to enhance and design our Site to make it easier, faster and friendlier to use. Additionally, cookies help us know information about how many people visit our Site, when they visit and how they use our service. We do not connect any of this information to your personal information or email address.
